Explaining the compressibility of water and air

Annotated drawing to explain observations:

• How do you explain the difference in the compressibility of air and water?
• What would you see at the particle level to explain what is going on?